FOREST FIRE FIGHTERS ASSEMBLE IN PICNIC AND BARBECUE AT LOGTOWN

H. Weston Lumber Company Host to Gathering Last Saturday—Presentation of Cups to Successful Fire Fighters in Forest Interest.

On Saturday, May 28, the personnel of the Wolf River Forest Protection Area organization was the guest of the H. Weston Lumber Company at a picnic and barbecue at the Madison Place Fire Tower, near Logtown, in celebration of the successful close of the third year of forest protection in Hancock county.

Besides the ranger, towerman, smoke chasers, wardens and fire fighters, there were present State Forester and Mrs. Fred B. Merrill, of Jackson; H. J. Eberley, District Forest Inspector and I. F. Eldridge, Director of the Regional Survey of Forest Resources, both of New Orleans and both members of the United States Forest Service; H. W. Garrison, of Bogalusa, Forester for the Great Southern Lumber Company; Rowland Weston, forester for the H. Weston Lumber Company and other officials of the H. Weston Lumber Company and many friends of the forest protective work.

The chief feature of the occasion was the presentation of prize cups to the boys of Flat Top School District who made the highest score in the discovery and extinction of forest fires in the protected area. The cups were offered by the Weston Lumber Company to the three boys who reported and helped fight the most fires. The winners were: Sam Martin, Jr., first prize with a score of 23 points; Woodrow Whitfield, second with a score of 11 points and J. C. Martin third with 8 points. The other boys in the contest were Billie Martin, Lester, Jessie, R. D. and Haywood Wheat. All together the boys reported 54 forest fires and helped control eight. So effective was their work that Forest Warden Lott McArthur of the Flat Top District, was not obliged to call on the rest of the protective organization for help in a single instance and no fire reached protected land.

The silver cups were presented by District Forester K. E. Kimball, and short talks were made by John Weston of the Weston Lumber Company and H. W. Garrison.

The past fiscal year has been the most successful in the history of the Wolf River Area protective area. Only 5,000 acres of the more than 100,000 acres under protection were burned over. When one considers that about 75 per cent of the surrounding territory was burned and that severe fires have occurred in the protective areas both east and west of this one, it is seen that this organization is indeed efficient and successful. Ranger Givens and his men deserve commendation for their good work and the large money value they have saved to the county.

The picnic and barbecue was well attended and proved a most enjoyable affair.

HODE AND FAVRE TO BE TRIED NEXT WEEK, FEDERAL COURT

Residents of Hancock County, Held on Liquor Charges To Be Tried at Biloxi.

Among cases of public interest scheduled for trial next week when federal court convenes in Biloxi is that of Zeno Hode, slayer of Federal Prohibition Agent R. M. Buck, and his son-in-law, Oscar Favre, both of Hode Town community in Hancock county, who have been named in indictments charging prohibition law violations recently filed with the clerk of the federal court at Biloxi.

Hode was tried on a murder charge at the last term of circuit court at Bay St. Louis in connection with the fatal shooting of Buck killed near a distillery, said to belong to Hode, where he was acquitted.

United States Attorney Cameron has enlisted the services of Sidney C. Mize, Gulfport lawyer, as special assistant prosecutor in the cases against Hode and Favre. Mize also represented the prohibition department at the trial of Hode in the state court at Bay St. Louis in the prosecution. R. A. Wallace, Gulfport attorney, it is understood, has been employed by Hode and Favre as defense counsel. Hode was successfully defended in his murder trial by Walter Gex of Bay St. Louis.

CHAMBER COMMERCE TAKES ACTION IN CAR-TOWING 'RACKET'

Racketeering of Dangerous and Injurious Type To This Section of Coast.

Reports that motorists were purposely detained over impassable roads last week by persons who offered at "exorbitant prices" to pull them from the mud brought a vigorous attack Wednesday upon "the stick-in-the-mud racket" by officials of the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, who assured motorists to the coast that the "racket" has been broken up. Prompt arrests are promised if any such action is attempted in the future.

The alleged "racketeering," it was said, took place in the vicinity of the Lakeshore cut-off on the Old Spanish Trail during the heavy rains of last week.

The Chamber of Commerce's statement follows: "Upon being advised of the stick-in-the-mud racket on the Old Spanish Trail Lake Shore cut off, Hancock officials took action which should be commended."

"Sheriff Kellar and a deputy immediately drove to the scene of racket prepared to make necessary arrests, but upon arriving found the racket had broken up. As motorists had not left names of racketeers, Sheriff Kellar was unable to make any arrests."

"We are very sorry this has happened and can assure the motorists that such will not happen again."

"In the future, may we advise that the motoring public if any such occurrence should happen again, that they get in touch with Chamber of Commerce or county officials giving names of racketeers so they may be brought to justice."

"The state highway engineer had erected signs at the Lake Shore cut-off detour, informing the motorists that the Old Spanish Trail was open again."

Sheriff Kellar and his corps of deputies and officers of Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce are fully aware of the seriousness of the "racket" and are ready to assist and prosecute where guilty parties are found.

ASPHALT ROAD TO ORLEANS

Highway Commissioner J. Thames Tells Echo Such Is Planned For August First.

Responding to a request of representatives of Chamber of Commerce along the Mississippi Coast for information as to when the Old Spanish Trail in Hancock county would be put in a more passable shape, J. F. Thames, State highway commissioner for this Coast district, addressed a meeting at Gulfport Wednesday and was a visitor to Bay St. Louis Thursday, paying a visit to this office, and mingling with Bay St. Louis friends while here, of whom he has many.

He reviewed somewhat in detail the activities of the three present state highway commissioners, showing difficulties under which they have labored on account of financial conditions.

Eighteen miles of the present road in Mississippi between Bay St. Louis and the Louisiana line remains to be surfaced, he explained, 10 miles of this road already having received a triple coat of asphalt penetration surface. This 18 miles had been graded, he said, and was now ready to receive the asphalt surfacing. Machinery for the purpose would be on the ground, he thought, early in June and the work of surfacing would begin at once.

It would require about three weeks to put on the initial coat of surfacing, he thought, and traffic

Judge John A. Breath, for many years a resident of Bay St. Louis and native of Tchula, Holmes County, Miss., passed away at his place of dwelling, Main street, at five minutes to twelve o'clock Friday night, following a spell of illness extending over a period of six weeks.

Judge Breath was 86 years of age and for a man of his age was most remarkable, retaining his splendid mentality all through his declining years and was conscious until the very last moment.

His earlier manhood life was spent in New York City, where he was well acquainted, and has a cousin, James Breath, connected in executive capacity with one of the largest life insurance companies in the country. This cousin was more like a brother to him, there existing a close mutual friendship that existed all through the years.

The Judge is survived by a number of children and grandchildren, as well as one great grandchild. His own children are Mrs. Vicky Calogne, of New Orleans and Charles A. Breath, Sr., of Bay St. Louis; two step children, Mrs. Lydia Saucier Eagan and William E. Saucier, making his home with Mrs. Eagan to whom he was equally devoted as to his own children.

Grandchildren are Chas. A. Breath, Jr., Mrs. Roger M. Boh, of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Mirette Baptiste, of New Orleans. Also Mrs. Mark Anderson, of California, Mrs. Townsend Wolfe, of Bay St. Louis, and Miss Thelma Eagan of Louisville, Ky., and one great-grandson, child of Mrs. Baptiste.

In early life Judge Breath was married to Mrs. Madeline Toule, member of prominent pioneer family of this place, and was president of Bay St. Louis for fifty-five years.

A man of liberal education, engaging personality, he was both read and traveled and a student of current events. No man was better posted and who could more intelligently discuss the issues and news topics of the day.

In later life he was better known perhaps as secretary of the Peoples Building & Loan Association, which he served for over thirty-five years. He always referred to this organization as "his child" and its concern was practically one of his last thoughts before his death.

For over a quarter of a century he served as a justice of this, Beat 5, re-elected subsequently until the time came when he no longer stood for re-election and wished to give his entire attention to the homestead association.

Then as secretary of the local Masonic fraternity he was also well known not only for his efficiency but for the long tenure of office, possibly over a period of twenty-five years, until he resigned.

Funeral ceremony was held from Fahey Funeral Home in Union street Saturday afternoon, local Masonic lodge members attending and performing the beautiful and significant ceremony of the order. The remains were taken to New Orleans for interment, accompanied by two representatives of the Bay Masons. These escorts of honor were Louis J. Norman and W. A. McDonald. At New Orleans Masonic fraternity of that city met the body and burial was under auspices of the same order.

The funeral was largely attended and floral offerings came from many sources, including from officers of Hancock county, Directors of the Merchants Bank & Trust Company, of which body he had been a member for twenty-nine years; Peoples Building & Loan Association, Order of the Eastern Star, Bay St. Louis Masons and others. The casket blanket of carnations was from the Peoples Bldg. & Loan. These last silent tributes were both marks of respect to his memory and a manifestation of the genuine sorrow of friends and acquaintances.

could be turned on the road in a short time after the surfacing was done. Other coats of surfacing would be applied, as rapidly as possible, he said.

Detours would be provided while the work was in progress in order that traffic would not be hindered. Funds were available to carry the work on and it was probable that the 18 miles of road would be entirely completed by August 1, he said.

O. S. T. TO BE PAVED.

THAT THE O. S. T. highway will be completely hardsurfaced by August 1, as reported by Commissioner Thames, both at a meeting held in Gulfport last week and in person while visiting Bay St. Louis the day following, is news of more than ordinary interest.

Mr. Thames is as anxious to have this road, running through Hancock county, finished as we are, and with his personal assurance there is no reason to doubt the completion of this work.

This highway is the only outlet for New Orleans and other motorists from that direction to the Mississippi Gulf Coast, and when it is impassable, occurring after every rainfall, traffic is paralyzed and both business and pleasure come to a halt.

Pleasure because the bulk of coast business emanates from tourists and others who come to the coast for recreation. It is seemingly strange that every foot of road, so to speak between New Orleans and Mobile is hardsurfaced saved that eighteen-mile stretch in Hancock county. Bay St. Louis suffers the most in comparison. It can then be seen how much greater the benefit will accrue to this section with the completion of the road by August 1. We sincerely hope it will be no later.

TEMPESTUOUS SEAS.

SPRINGTIME and graduating time over the country! Bay St. Louis has its many boys and girls, flower of the land, who are equipped and ready to go forth into the world. Many will not seek their respective niches just now in the plan of everyday turmoil, but will embrace that opportunity that is getting rare to embrace courses of higher learning.

The young people are filled with hopes and ambition. Their minds are bursting over with knowledge and their spirit is to help this old world of ours to do better; to reform and help in order we may emanate from the besieging chaotic element. Only, in too many instances, to find that the pots of the rainbow are not filled with gold, but that only an illusion exists and that all roseate colors fade away the soonest.

But to the young graduate, Bay St. Louis and Hancock county in particular, we extend the hand of fellowship and the wish for a safe and long voyage in that tiny bark that must sail on tempestuous seas.

CONGRESSMAN HALL ASKS RE-ELECTION.

CONGRESSMAN Robert S. Hall, representative from this the Sixth congressional district, has formally announced his intention of entering the race for re-election.

A statement appearing in last week's issue of The Sea Coast Echo tells of the long list of accomplishment by Congressman Hall and will not bear repetition again. He has been active and attending to his duties most diligently, absent from his desk in the house only one time, and that when called away on official duty.

Congressman Hall is well-known over the district; hardly needs any introduction. However, we wish to call the attention of our readers to his candidacy and to what he has done. Then we let the matter rest with good judgment of the voter who will exercise that sacred prerogative of voting for the man of their choice, based on the past as well as possibilities for the future.

THE CHURCHES GROW.

FIGURES compiled by the Christian Herald reveal that church membership increased by 433,656 in 1931, continuing a gain that has been steady in every decade since 1800.

A little more than one hundred years ago it is estimated that only 6.5 percent of population belonged to religious bodies but last year the ratio has risen to 40.1 per cent.

Dr. G. L. Kieffer, who prepared the statistics, declares that they confirm "the general belief that interest in religion increases in times of depression" and declares that "amid the wreck of fortunes and the ruin of material hopes, the church still stands."

STILL NEED ROADS.

THERE are more than 6,000,000 farms in the United States.

More than one-third of these are still located on unimproved dirt roads.

Less than one out of every ten farms are on concrete, brick, asphalt or macadam roads.

There is still need for the construction of good roads in this country and the maintenance of the roads which have already been built.

It is interesting and well to note that none of the Legion Post along the route of the Box Car Parade to Washington by world war veterans, officially endorse, sanction or approve this march or the principle of the demonstration. Members of Hancock county Legion in Bay St. Louis assisting the 160 members who reached the suburbs of the city on foot, one hundred negroes and sixty white, were only assisted by the local legion as an act of emergency; helping a fellowman in sore distress. Other than that the Legion Post in no way approves or condones the move.

PASSING OF JUDGE J. A. BREATH.

THE DEATH of Judge J. A. Breath last week, even though expected, caused widespread sorrow. Here was a man who had lived and labored far beyond the ordinary span of life, and each year added to his long list of achievement as an ideal citizen, exemplary in every phase of his public and private life.

Men and women reposed in him every confidence. His word was ever his bond. Outside of his private life, filled with deeds as acted by one of so splendid a character, Judge Breath was better known for three positions of honor and trust that he had held, each for over a quarter of a century. As secretary of the Peoples Building & Loan Association, as a justice of the peace, Beat 5, and as secretary of the local Masonic Order. We know and grow fond of people—some times because of their own personality and in other instances for the things they do. In this instance the subject of this article was beloved both for himself and for the things he did.

The passing of Judge Breath removes a landmark; a native of this State, he had resided in Bay St. Louis for a period of 50 years. His young manhood was spent in New York City and in foreign travel. He was well read, as well as traveled; a man of education and it might well be said he was both a scholar and a gentleman—a veritable gentleman of the old school.

Many of our people enjoyed his friendship for a long period. Time neither dimmed nor tarnished that high regard of his friends. Because of his genuineness and sincerity he wore well.

At his funeral full tribute was paid his memory. The Masonic fraternity accorded him honor both here and in New Orleans, and the innumerable floral offerings in their own mute but eloquent language bespoke praise for his memory and sympathy for the living.

Good friend, we have known you for thirty five years, and your memory will always remain as one cherished recollection.

A TEAR FOR THE DEAD—A FLOWER FOR THE LIVING.

OBSERVING Memorial Day last Monday, as a national holiday, Hancock county Legion Post in assembly, followed by a parade, paid tribute to the memory of their departed comrades. The Bay St. Louis Municipal Band, members firing squad, Machine Gun Co., M., Gulfport, Legion Post members, veterans of all wars and Legion Auxiliary members formed an impressive sight in parade.

It is well that at least each year in formal assembly we pay tribute to the memory of the departed, those who did not die in vain, even though they were born to die—in the crimson of their own blood. They died that others may live; that the country may be safe. No man hath greater glory than this.

Hancock county and Bay St. Louis were not recreant to their duty to the memory of the dead. Decorating the graves of their comrades who sleep in Bay St. Louis soil, they shed a tear for the dead, and to the living we offer the flower of hope.

The future of the country is seemingly well established. The world is at peace. Warring nations have folded their tents and the war dogs have been called. Only last week the last of a complete collection of flags from warring nations at the time of the world war was placed in a department of the church at Hoboken, New Jersey, where over two million American boys worshipped before crossing the ocean in trek of war. The flag placed there last week, the last one of the set, to be deposited with solemnity and pomp, and with all the reverence implied by the spirit of lasting peace, and it was none other than that of Germany.

Of course we shall never forget our soldier dead. We can forget the valor of our living as well, nevertheless it is well that proper tribute be renewed each year to the soldier.

GREAT INVENTIONS.

RECENTLY various prominent scientists were asked to guess what would be the next great invention. Some interesting answers were given.

Lee De Forest, radio expert, thinks that the intense internal heat of the earth will be eventually used to produce steam, which in turn will generate electricity, and furnish power.

Elihu Thomson thinks that some indirect method to convert the radiant energy of the sun into electric current would be the most beneficial and helpful.

S. M. Kintner, vice president of a large electrical concern, mentions many possibilities, which will follow the discovery of means to produce and detect ether-waves in the present unknown regions of wave lengths.

Many others could be added. Unlimited power would likewise be produced by releasing the energy of the atom. Everybody seems to be interested in more power, but the problem more important to the world is the utilization of such energy.

Increased happiness for the world, at the present time, will come more quickly from an equitable division of the benefits of the present social and economic change than by finding new agencies of power.

BORAH'S PROGRAM.

NOT LONG AGO Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, named three essential steps which the world would have to take before commerce and business would move on a scale large enough to bring prosperity back. Senator Borah's program is summarized by him in the following words:

"Unless the armaments of the world are reduced, so that that burden will be lightened upon the people, unless reparations are settled, so that Europe can regain economic recovery; and unless silver is restored to the place which it occupied prior to 1925, so that nearly one-half of the human family may have means by which to transact business, and to some extent restore their purchasing power, there can not, in my judgment, be any ready return to prosperity."

VIEWS OF OUR NEWS

By Chicagoan

A Review of the News of Last Week's Echo.

CHICAGO, ILL., May 31.—

What makes each issue of The Echo so interesting?

Why do its subscribers wait anxiously for its appearance?

Why are there no copies of it left in trash boxes wherein repose so many well-printed and well intentioned advertising circulars? Why are all members of the family impatient until they have seen what the Echo has to tell? Why does even the tight fisted gentry manifest its interest by borrowing the home paper from some paying subscriber.

To answer those questions is no more difficult, nor no less so, than it is to explain why life is interesting. For the home paper is but a cross section of the composite lives of the people of the community it serves so well.

All life ends in death. And because noble lives terminate in noble deaths, we read in The Echo of the plans made in Bay

St. Louis for the observance of Memorial Day. Before this is read, people will have gathered at the school auditorium and in the cemeteries their minds filled with memories of the lives of brave men which were sacrificed on the altar of their country, and of those, no less brave, who later passed beyond the reach of the bugler's call.

In the detailed report of the graduating exercises at Bay Hi, and the announcement of similar exercises at St. Stanislaus on June 5th, are recorded the closing of one chapter in the lives of the young people and the opening of another. The graduates now will fare forth into the world. Some will die on fields of honor, perhaps. To others all honors will come while they are still active in the nation's affairs. The older generation has provided the Class of 1932 with wonderful facilities with which to meet the years ahead of them. That is well; for it is also quite evident that the present genera-problems with which it now wrestles.

Thoughts inspired by gradua-the commencement of one talented daughter, Miss Norma, at the University of Mississippi, and of another, Miss Laurin at young ladies these events were commencements. To the proud parents, they were, in part, fulfillments of the dreams they have had for the futures of their daughters to whom they have devoted much of their lives, and who now bring honors to an honored family.

Two men mentioned in last with increased responsibilities.

A. G. Favre who brings the state deputyship of the Knights himself with additional duties.

To Charles G. Moreau came the presidency of the Merchants Bank and Trust Company, to consume more of his capacity for energetic leadership. Fortunate is the town with such leaders, especially in these days of those in high as well as low stations in life.

Another tribute to the leadership of the Chamber of Commerce in Bay St. Louis and other Coast towns is found in the announcement that surfacing of the remaining portion of the road to New Orleans will be begin immediately. Those who realize the advantages of that improvement must certainly appreciate the value of the forces which have brought it about.

Just as mothers think of the homes where their children were reared, so others, as death approaches, yearn to lie near the spots where their fondest laborers were performed.

The life of Brother Stanislaus

89 years ago when he was born in beautiful Tipperary, he labored toward that glorious end

last week.

As Editor Moreau so feelingly stated in his editorial last week, it was a high tribute to Bay St.

that your city be his burial place.

St. Stanislaus College stands, an everlasting monument to the devoted educators who have built that grand institution.

'HITCH-HIKING' VETS ON WAY TO WASHINGTON PASS THROUGH BAY CITY

Contingent of Four Hundred Start Out From New Orleans—Sheriff Keller Helps Vets Out In Ride—Harrison and Jackson Counties Do Likewise.

A $75,000 federal appropriation to care for the war veterans who have converged on Washington to demand immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus was proposed in a bill introduced Monday by Senator Costigan, Democrat of Colorado. The measure resulted from a demand by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police that the federal government and not the District of Columbia defray the expenses of the veterans while at Washington.

Some four hundred veterans 'hitch-hiking' left New Orleans Saturday and continued their journey on to Washington when they halted on reaching Slidell and were stalled for the time being, tired and worn out generally from the long trip made on foot.

Their plight was soon communicated to Bay St. Louis, that World War veterans were on a hitch-hiking trek to Washington, to demand immediate cash bonus payment by congress. Following a telephone conference early Monday between Sheriff T. E. Keller of this county and Mayor J. W. Milner, of Gulfport, the plan to provide free transportation through Mississippi was evolved and other sheriffs and mayors along the coast line of march immediately signified their willingness to cooperate.

Hancock county and Bay St. Louis authorities delivered the Washington-bound party to Long Beach in Harrison County where Sheriff C. P. Huggins of that county and Mayors Milner of Gulfport and John Kennedy of Biloxi, had trucks and automobiles assembled and conveyed the group through to Ocean Springs. There, Sheriff Guy Krebs of Jackson county assembled vehicles to carry the veterans on to the Alabama state line.

Deputy sheriffs and city policemen together with other county and municipal employees drove the fleet of trucks and cars.

Both Hancock county and city truck of Bay St. Louis conveyed the marching party, although on reaching here part of it disbanded and sought to return home. This camp was nine miles west of the city, where the trucks picked the men up and about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon the trucks were seen going over the Bay St. Louis bridge. It was quite a sight. These trucks went only as far as Long Beach, where Harrison county conveyances were in readiness for the transfer.

Among the trucks ushered into service of Sheriff C. P. Hughes at Gulfport to provide transportation was a large machine seized some months ago by his office with a cargo of liquor and which had been condemned for sale for benefit of the county treasury.

Jackson county supplied similar transportation and the Louisiana Bonus Delegations were given transportation to the Alabama line.

Similar delegations from several parts of the country, including one from the far-pacific coast, are en route to the capital with a view of assembling there in demonstration urging for the payment of the cash bonus to the war veterans. What success this method will have remains to be seen, but the consensus of opinion is that it will hardly prove of avail. The subject has been discussed and is so calendared and committee-passed that it can not very well be resurrected for this session, at least. Congress is due to adjourn at any time within a fortnight.

No fuss. No mess. SUDS.

In The Hands of Receivers.

Gerald Bodine has failed. He has complained that he ate a nail with his food in a chain restaurant in Chicago. X-ray photographs taken and his stomach were offered to show the truth.

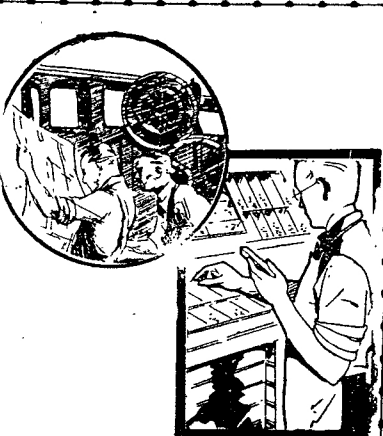

Investigation proved, however, that he had collected $600 during the last few months on similar complaints in other part of the country.

Bodine confessed that he swallowed his first nail while on a dining car. Successful in collecting damages that time, he practiced the racket steadily, and nail eating became a habit as well as a profession. He is now in the hands of receivers.

FORMER BAY ST. LOUIS RESIDENT KILLED BY LIGHTNING BOLT

Henry Nemetz, Former Employee at Fahey's Drug Store Meets Tragic Death.

Five baseball players were hurt, one fatally at Shelby, Thursday afternoon when a bolt of lightning struck the diamond during progress of a game between Shelby and Gunnison.

Henry Nemetz, 25, who graduated from the University of Mississippi two years ago, was struck fatally by the bolt as he was returning a ball from right field to the infield. He was playing for Gunnison.

Bob Wadlington, Charles Vandever, Claude Richard, members of the Gunnison team, and Bob James, who was at bat for Shelby, were severely shocked when the lightning struck.

These four players were recovering and none were in a serious condition.

The body of Nemetz was forwarded to Memphis where funeral services were held.

For almost two hours artificial respiration methods were used in an attempt to restore life, but proved fruitless. Nemetz is survived by his parents and several brothers and sisters.

Henry Nemetz, the victim of the tragedy, was well-known in that business section in the vicinity of the L. & N. depot, employed last year and up to Christmas as a prescriptionist in the Fahey Drug Store. He was a splendid young man and his employer, Mr. Fahey, speaks well of the excellent character and service of the man. A university graduate and a pharmacist, he was well versed and a bright future was ahead.

Death of Dr. Joseph Muller at New Orleans Winter Residence

Dr. Joseph Muller passed away Friday of last week at his home in Audubon Park, following an illness subsequent to a surgical operation. He is survived by his wife, who, before her marriage was Miss Mary I. Williams, one son, Norbert Muller, and two daughters, Mrs. Katherine Weider residing at Ocean Springs and Mrs. E. J. Sterken also a resident of the same place.

Dr. Muller was prominently known in the city of New Orleans, representatively connected with many outstanding interests, socially, financially and commercially, and at various times held several positions of honor and trust.

Fond of the Mississippi Gulf Coast and ever a booster for this section he frequently visited here in former years and later purchased a beautiful home out Citizen street and more recently a villa on the beach front, on North Beach Boulevard, where he spent his summers with his family.

Dr. Muller was brother of the late George Muller, for many years a resident and business man of Bay St. Louis, and was also an uncle of George Muller, formerly connected with the Merchants Bank & Trust Company.

The funeral took place Saturday afternoon; interment Metairie cemetery. Dr. Muller was a man of education and polish; traveled and well engaging manners.

POPPY DAY.

O wear a poppy blossom, bright and red, That flower sweet which decked the fields of France; They wave and smile above the soldier dead, While in the arms of Spring they wave and dance.

O love the poppies blooming in the glade, Where once, some mother's son brave fighting fell; His blood, a crimson tide o'er them has made, And of his love and sacrifice would tell.

O bless the poppy which has touched his face, The youth, whose manly heart was pure and fair; It downward bent, its love o'er him to trace, And would a mother's kiss press unaware.

O cull the poppy sighing in the Spring, In memory of all those who nobly died; To many hearts keen sorrow it will bring, Like unto Mary's for her Crucified.

O Poppy, bright, the souvenir of War, We press thee as one holy to our breast; Today thy beauty's shed on graves afar, And, like pray'r, thou quarest well their rest.

awarded. The young people had an enjoyable evening.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. O. M. Villere has as her guests—her mother and sister who will remain awhile.

Miss Dolores and Elenore Bourgeois are spending some time in New Orleans visiting relatives.

Mr. Geo. P. Harrell spent Thursday in New Orleans.

Mrs. A. K. Roy will entertain the members of the Waveland Music Club at her home on the Beach Boulevard Sunday June 5th, at 7 P. M. They will be joined at her home by the Juvenile Orchestra of Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Edw. C. Carrere was hostess at a benefit card party on May 31.

Mrs. Geo. Schilling with Mrs. Herbert Laudon and children are visiting in Chicago and other points of interest.

Many visitors were over for the week end, with the opening of the summer activities. It is noted many homes are undergoing renovations while others are receiving repairs and other minor improvements. Because of its proximity to New Orleans Waveland is easily one of the favorite resorts of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, and with this undisputed argument in its favor will ever remain to the fore.

The Tucker family were over from New Orleans to attend the graduating exercises and while here were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Carrio.

Graduation exercises attracted many visitors and of such interesting and worth while nature it was no wonder there are so many visitors from away and surrounding territory.

BELIEVES IN NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

One of the more successful business places of Waveland is the I. G. A. Store, owned and operated by Mr. Charles B. Mollere, live, progressive and energetic and never lets an opportunity escape to get better values, more goods at least cost for his customers. Mr. Mollere is a consistent newspaper advertiser and finds by this means he is better able to inform the public of his weekly offerings. Newspaper advertising he says, is the best and most effective.

As a result each week he builds up his trade and expansion seems to be the order and watchword of his splendid business.

TRAIN TO STOP AT NICHOLSON AVENUE.

It is interesting to learn that the evening coast train stopping at Waveland depot will also stop at Nicholson avenue, a convenience not to be overlooked and appreciated. This is a fine and fast train and has not heretofore made this stop. Only the slow evening local has stopped at Nicholson.

Mr. S. D. Siler and others were instrumental in getting the splendid accommodation for Waveland people and visitors.

Business Is Held Back by Rate Chaos

Regulation of rail rates may be irksome at times, but it serves one outstanding good purpose; it makes the rail rate a dependable factor in business.

Rail rates must be published and strictly adhered to. Every shipper knows what his rate is and what his competitors' rates are and can act accordingly.

This is not the case with less regulated forms of transportation. Some have published rates to which they adhere, but most of them are under no such compulsion.

The results are economic chaos, disruption in business, another unstable factor to complicate competition and retard the return of normal times.

This much can be agreed; if regulation of rail rates is a good thing, equal regulation of rates for all other transportation is a good thing.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

CURRENT COMMENT

(For The Sea Coast Echo)

WORK ENOUGH TO KEEP THEM BUSY AWHILE.

The Senate and the House, after talking things over, feel that the present Congress cannot rest from its labors by the middle of June, there being work enough on hand to keep the legislators busy, well into the hot weather.

In the Senate, the consideration of the revenue and tax measures continues. That body has accepted, for the time being, a normal income tax running from three to nine percent, with surtaxes mounting to forty-five percent in case of large incomes, but there has been no definite vote on the bill, considered as a whole. A proposal to make beer a lawful drink and levy a tax on it, has gone down in defeat, by a vote of 61 to 24. The soldiers in the anti-tariff ranks seem to be fighting for a lost cause. The Senate has approved duties on both lumber and copper.

The House appears to be no thirstier than the Senate and has laid 2.75 beer to rest, the epitaph on its tombstone being "228 to 169." The lower legislative body has it in mind to make kidnapping a child and carrying it across a state line, a crime for which death will be the penalty. The Representatives have passed a bill appropriating four million, to be distributed among the states on a population basis, for the rehabilitation of persons who have been disabled in the industrial establishments of the country. The open and waiting purse of the War Department will have to remain open and waiting a little longer, while the House continues its study of the appropriation bill for that branch of the nation's defense.

UNITED STATES NOT MAKING MUCH HEADWAY IN GETTING MONEY BACK.

The United States is not making much headway in getting back the money which was loaned to Europe in wartime, but it seems that Europe is getting a taste of her own non-pay medicine, though perhaps in smaller doses than she prescribed for us. The post office report shows that the amount sent across the pond from this country during the past year, in the form of money orders, is less than it has been for almost a decade.

ONE BUSINESS THAT IS FLOURISHING.

One of the few business enterprises that is flourishing is counterfeiting, there being more bad money afloat now than at any period within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. A government official says that the public is partly to blame, in that it does not scrutinize its cash closely enough. In reply it may be remarked that a man must have some horses to handle, before he can learn much by looking one in the mouth.

SMILES TOO SCARCE.

Smiles are altogether too scarce, and Mr. Grant Hinkle, Secretary of State for the State of Washington, should be remembered kindly for lightening a serious article on legislation by referring to the boy who wanted to know how people stuck on the earth before the law of gravitation was passed.

SUFFERING ON EVERY SIDE.

The American delegates to the disarmament conference in Geneva cannot keep their expenses under fifty thousand dollars a month, and will have to come home unless Congress goes to their aid. Regardless of the direction in which one's gaze is turned, the eye beholds suffering.

Japan has had two prime ministers assassinated inside of a year. That is a disgraceful showing. In America, no one but a kidnapped baby need be genuinely anxious.

Disgruntled spouses continue to fill the columns with notices to the effect that they will be responsible for debts contracted by anyone other than themselves. At this time, when economic uplift and confidence are so much needed, why not start a movement to publish a list of names who are willing to state that they are ready to pay debts of their own contraction.

The Boy Scouts and similar organizations really haven't much to offer in the way of attractions. The Philippine Islands are the ideal boy's land. Over there, three lads who did not pass their exams liked the teacher and got the O. K. of the superintendent of schools.

VACATIONS.

Vacation plans are in the air. Some will see places and view new sights; others are planning a long sleep—a week or more to listen to them. Some will start work next week—the “lucky” dogs? When shall we meet again in the refrain heard sung by Class '32.

STILL RAMBLING.

They told me I must prophesy, But I knew not what to do, For I was not born a prophet, Any more than one of you; I had spent the day in study, And in thinking, hard and deep So I now, all worn and weary, Lay me down and fell asleep.

I had lain there but a moment In that slumber, calm and sweet, When I rose, refreshed and strengthened, And stepped out upon the street;

But I very soon discovered That I was in a strange place, For I saw not one known figure, Nor an old familiar face.

I was in a mammoth city, By the side of which I knew That New York, the nation's glory, Would stand but a feeble show; Great sky-scrapers all about me; Aeroplanes through all the air; Wonders far beyond conception Here and there and everywhere!

I could scarce believe my senses When I saw the airship line Bore the well known name of Bay St. Louis

While the same gleamed from each sign; And my eyes were opened wider Than they had ever been before, When I saw a slip of paper Dated 1944.

While I puzzled o'er this problem, Staring round with open eyes, Looking for some one to question Of this marvelous surprise, I beheld near me a policeman, Coming on with ponderous steps, I thought I would accost him, And learn what I wished to know.

As he came still nearer, I thought I had seen that face before Somewhere else, yet could not put it In exactly its right place; But at last he stood before me, And all wonder vanished quite; 'Twas my old chum, Raymond Loch, And I met him with delight.

It was strange that I should know him, For the change in him was great; He was very tall and fat And he moved with an elephant tread

He seemed quite surprised to see me, Said I had been long away, And gave me an invitation To remain with him that day.

His kind offer I accepted, And he hailed a flying car, Which we boarded, skimming swiftly Through the ether, fast and far; I watched the conductor closely— 'Twas a man of great roundity Fully able to assist the Passengers step in and out.

As he took my fare he knew me And stood pointing out strange sights—

Tony Toarmina thus had proven On the car in aviation success; On the car a dude was sitting Toying with a poodle small— Why, 'twas Albert Bruzeau! I scarcely Would have known the man at all.

Soon we flitted past a corner That looked like old times to me, For it was the well known corner Where Planche's used to be! Now the place was changed to show A factory, twenty stories high; And I noticed a small fish stand. There, as we were passing by—

And behind the greasy counter Stood a man I knew at sight! Yes, for it was HORACE DEES Shouting “FISH” with all his might I looked out at him in wonder For whoever would have thought That our old time “case” could be such

A task be brought. But the whole day brought surprises! Duke was still prancing on the track; Kevin was an opera singer; Frank a politician quite the rage; Warren a sailor; Mac an author; Motty a waiter prim and neat; Chubby and Maurice were still clocking.

Dido was on a diet—he had grown so very thin; While Barney Google's double was seen in Burguiers.

Hickman and Linam were still throwing the ball. Wally and Kidd still had words concerning Mabel.

Bye and bye we reached the home where Babnet lived.

COMMENT ON SPORTS BY SHERIDAN

Yankees Set Pace Braves Keep Going U. S. Golfers Fail Weak Teams Beat Leaders Foolish Rule Rescinded Build Olympic Village Nurmi Praises Rival.

By taking fourteen out of seventeen games at home, the New York Yankees acquired undisputed lead in the American League race and gave a demonstration of pitching prowess and batting power that leads many to suspect that Joe McCarthy is about to inaugurate a new Yankee reign.

The New Yorkers have been greatly aided by Vernon Gomez, who won seven of his first eight games, including three victories over the Athletics. Last year Gomez did not start a game until mid June, but he finished the season with a record of twenty-one games won and only nine lost.

In the National League, the Boston Braves continue to create the impression that their fine start was not a flash in the pan. Moreover the experts are gradually getting the idea that Cincinnati will have much to say about the pennant before the season ends. Altogether, the National race is set for a hand-to-hand fight from start to finish, with the ultimate winner likely to be decided by the breaks of the game.

The American golfers who went to Muirfield, Scotland, to make a try for the British Amateur golf crown, failed to get very close to their goal. At the end of the third round, the eleven Americans were out. However, this was not unexpected as none of the American participants rated as high as the first ten in the States.

One of the interesting things about baseball is the way some teams are of regularly beating stronger outfits. For example, the St. Louis Browns recently took four straight games from the Washington Senators, dropping them from the lead, and recalled the fact that two years ago, Washington might have won a pennant but for the fact that they could not conquer the Browns. In that year, the Senators beat the Yankees to death and more than broke even with the Athletics.

We also seem to remember that the Athletics, who have won the American League pennant for three successive years, would have won the pennant for the two preceding years if they had been able to take the number of the Yankees. Against the rest of the League, Connie Mack's men had the best record, but whenever they came to grips with the New Yorkers, the Yankees put the kids under them regularly.

In the National League, the Cincinnati Reds seem set to break the spell that has entrained them for the past three years in their conflicts with the Cardinals. In 1929 and 1930 the Cardinals took 19 of 22 games. Last year they took 20. However, the Reds are much improved and should earn more respect from St. Louis this season.

The National League has rescinded its rule prohibiting players from conversing with fans who occupy seats close enough to make conversation possible.

The commencement exercises were held on Wednesday night, May 25, at 8:30 P. M. Hortense, Rosemond, Augustine, Benoit and Edith Holmes received diplomas. Mrs. C. C. McDonald was the speaker of the evening. She delivered a very inspiring and worth while address.

The following program was rendered: Processional. Invocation, Rev. J. B. Campbell. Song by Assembly, Negro National Anthem.

Salutatory, Augusta C. Benoit. Quartette, Medley of Negro Songs. Oration, Hortense L. Rosemond. Chorus, Advanced Department. Vaudeictory, Edith L. Holmes. Quartette, Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming. Address, Mrs. C. C. McDonald. Instrumental Solo, Augusta C. Benoit. Presentation of Diplomas, Prof. S. J. Ingram.

Class Song, Fare Thee Well. Benediction, Rev. H. H. Lowe.

Due to the inclement weather of the preceding week, the closing concerts were held on the Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights following commencement. Due to the poor attendance and the lateness of the concerts it was decided to postpone the annual picnic indefinitely. We wish, however, to thank all of those who attended.

possible. Since the season opened, players of both leagues have given their friends in the stands only icy stares. The American League is constituting the rule which provides a $5 fine for any player caught violating it. This foolish regulation was adopted last summer after newspaper photographers caught Catcher Gabby Hartnett, of the Cubs, in the act of autographing a baseball for the 12-year-old son of Alphonse Capone, notorious gangster.

Helen Willis Moody is showing the French galleries that she still maintains her court wizardry, and is having little trouble in overcoming all opposition.

Leonard Martin, metropolitan champion of New York, gave the spectators a surprise in the British amateur golf championship, by defeating Eric Martin Smith, defending champion. Martin staged a fine comeback but lost out in a subsequent round.

Los Angeles is looking forward to the arrival of athletes from 48 foreign nations to compete in the Olympic games, which will run from July 30th to August 15th. A special village has been constructed to house the 2,000 athletes who are expected. Spain is the only major country unrepresented and while valiant efforts were made to provide a team, the pressure of finance and revolt scattered the young nobles of the leisure class, who make up most of Spain's athletes.

The Olympic village is interesting, comprising 550 cottages, each of which will house four men. It has its own telephone system, water system and other modern appurtenances. Moving pictures and vaudeville shows will be furnished the athletes, who will not be allowed to leave the village while in training. Many film stars have agreed to make personal appearances.

Some slight displeasure is reported in France over the ruling against allowing wine to French athletes, and Finland is said to be ready to withdraw her strong delegation if Pavlo Nurmi is disqualified. However, the Finns have three other good, or better, runners. In fact, Pavlo himself says that Lehtinen will win the 5,000 meter race and that the only question is how far the others will be behind. This young country boy has developed rapidly and obtained general recognition after the famous two-mile race last summer, which Nurmi won in world's record time, 8:59.5, but in which Lehtinen was second, with 9:00.5.

Billy Petrolle gave Bat Battalino a bloody lacing in their ten-round fight at Chicago, but he could not make the former featherweight champion back up. Battalino never stopped carrying the fight to his adversary, although he was cut, lacerated and bleeding from the second round until the end. Nate Lewis, stadium matchmaker, says the battle was the most vicious in his memory back to the Battling Nelson-Ad Wogast lightweight title bout many years ago.

MEMORIAL SERVICE IN MEMORY OF DEMISED MEMBERS OF HOUSE

Vote to Decline To Take Action Towards Repeal Dry Law—Proposed Federal Guarantee of Bank Deposits—Struggle With Billion-Dollar Tax.

By Representative Robert S. Hall

CAPITOL HILL, May 30.—Memorial services for Members of Congress who have died since the last session were held in the House of Representatives on Wednesday of last week. Speaker Garner presided. Prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery; the United States Navy Band played and addresses were given by Representative Leavitt of Montana and Bankhead of Alabama. The conducting of memorial rites is an annual custom and a family delegation for each memorialized member usually attends. This tribute was paid to the memory of three senators and sixteen representatives. The final roll call was read by Patrick J. Halligan, reading clerk of the House. The names of those honored were:

Senators Dwight W. Morrow of New Jersey, Thaddeus H. Caraway of Arkansas and William J. Harris of Georgia—Representatives Henry Allen Cooper of Wisconsin, James B. A. Well of Louisiana, Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, Matthew V. O'Malley of New York, Charles A. Mooney of Ohio, George S. Graham of Pennsylvania, Charles G. Edwards of Georgia, Bird J. Vincent of Michigan, Samuel C. Major of Missouri, Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey, Fletcher Hale of New Hampshire, Harry M. Wurzback of Texas, Percy Quinn of Mississippi, Samuel Rutherford of Georgia, Albert H. Vestal of Indiana and Edward M. Beers of Pennsylvania.

Again the House has declined to bring up for consideration legislation affecting the status of the National dry laws. A motion to discharge the Ways and Means Committee from further consideration of a measure to legalize and tax 2.75 per cent beer has been defeated, 228 to 169, on a roll-call vote. In a previous vote to force out of the Judiciary committee a resolution providing for resumption of the eighteenth amendment to the people, the motion was defeated by a ballot of 227 to 187. Similar proposals in the Senate have been voted down, 3 to 1.

The House has passed the Steagall bill to guarantee bank deposits in member banks of the Federal reserve system and State banks which can qualify under its terms. State banks must furnish certificates of solvency from State bank commissioners. Provision is made for a billion-dollar reserve for repaying deposits in closed banks. Part of this fund would be borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and the rest would be obtained from surpluses of Federal Reserve Banks and assessments against member banks. The fund would be administered by a board composed of the Secretary of the Treasury, the Comptroller of the Currency and three members appointed by the President. It would be empowered to wind up the affairs of closed banks, making the initial payment to depositors within three months and the final payment within 21 months. Other regulatory provisions would better safeguard the interest of depositors in all banks. It is the general belief that the wise administration of the provisions of the Steagall bill would go a long way toward restoring public confidence in our banking institutions.

The Senate seems to be having a harder struggle with the billion-dollar tax bill than the House. As speaker Garner aptly expressed it in a press-conference: "We heard a lot about mob rule in the House on the tax bill, but I want to remind you that we finally settled down and in three days after the sales tax was defeated, we passed a bill that will balance the budget." After the Senate had imposed a levy on candy, Senator Couzens of Michigan dubbed the measure a "lollypop tax bill." Indications are that the Senate version of the tax bill will not differ greatly from that of the House measure.

Adjournment of Congress is still up in the air. Additional to the tax and economy bills, most of the annual appropriation measures remain to be approved by the Senate and settled in conference before they can be sent to the White House. The consensus is that there can be no quitting until the legislative slate is cleared of all pressing legislation, even if it takes all summer. Besides, there is general agreement that Congress must approve a measure designed to relieve distress and unemployment before it shuts up shop. So the chances are that at least another month will be required to finish the job.

CAREFUL DRIVING AVOIDS MISHAPS

Here's A Few "Don'ts" To Help Bay St. Louis Automobilists.

What is the cost of carelessness and recklessness among motor car drivers on the public roads of the nation annually?

There can be no definite answer to this question. Statistics may reveal the cost in property damage and loss, but the human toll in deaths and cripples is astounding and can never be fixed in cold figures.

This fact has been brought home to every city and town in the country, and Bay St. Louis has not escaped. The reader very probably calls to mind as this is read, some accident in this immediate vicinity where there has been a toll of human life in addition to property damage.

The alarming thing about it is that there seems to be no let up. Instead of decreasing, the figures grow year by year.

Of course, danger lurks in the pathway of every individual, whether he be walking, riding, or even sitting comfortably in his home. The hazard is increased many times over when the individual rides in a motor car, no matter how careful the driver of the machine may be. It does seem, therefore, that the utmost precaution should be taken to prevent accidents among motor vehicles on the public highways.

The observance of a few simple rules would serve to reduce the possibility of accidents tremendously. Yet there are drivers who seem to disregard utterly the rights of every other traveler on the road, and drives as though he is the only one on the highway.

Until this attitude is changed, accidents will continue to mount year by year, and thousands will fill untimely graves, while other thousands will live the rest of their lives crippled or incapacitated in other ways.

A motorist has compiled ten "don'ts" for drivers which would help materially to lower the possibility of an accident:

They are:

1. Don't pass on hills or blind curves—you might just as well be blindfolded.
2. Don't challenge the right of way—if in doubt, take no chances.
3. Don't fail to signal all turns—the fellow behind is no mind reader.
4. Don't cut corners—that's the other fellow's territory and he might claim it.
5. Don't cut in sharply after passing—the driver you pass hates the ditch as much as you do.
6. Don't weave all over the highway—your half of the road is on the right.
7. Don't come to sudden stops without signalling—rear end crashes are costly.
8. Don't lag in traffic—you have

STRIKING TALKIE ON A. & G. THEATER BILL SUNDAY AND MONDAY

The 'Wet Parade' has Vivid Plot and Powerful Portrayals

One of the strongest casts assembled in many a season and one of the most interest-provoking dramas yet depicted on the talking screen make "The Wet Parade," showing at the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday, a picture far above the ordinary run of film fare.

Here is a love story which has a background of stirring modern events. It is romance of a realistic sort for what happened to the hero and heroine of "The Wet Parade" could have happened to any average young couple in the United States today if they were placed in similar circumstances. The story has a wide diversity of appeal for within its scope is contrasted high and low life and its various exciting episodes encompass both tragic and comic elements.

Dramatic interest is centered on the effects of liquor on a wide variety of people, starting with the disintegration of a cultured and aristocratic family of the pre-war South which results in the suicide of Lewis Stone, and continuing with the period of the old corner saloon days of New York where the romance between Dorothy Jordan and Robert Young is introduced.

The plot has any number of smash dramatic scenes which give the various players ample opportunity for effective portrayals. The episode, for instance, in which Walter Huston is placed on trial for the murder of his wife, is one of the most gripping and stirring courtroom sequences ever used on the screen. Likewise the pathetic scene in which Neil Hamilton faces the loss of his eyesight which means the end of his brilliant career as a playwright.

Miss Jordan, Robert Young, Lewi Stone, Walter Huston, the amusing Jimmy "Schnozle" Durante and Neil Hamilton offer outstanding work in the principal roles while the work of the supporting players including Wallace Ford, Myrna Loy, John Miljan, Joan Marsh, Clara Glandick and Emma Dunn is uniformly excellent.

O. E. S. School of Instruction Held At Poplarville Saturday

School of instruction for the Order of Eastern Star for the 20th District of Mississippi was held at Poplarville Masonic Temple by Mrs. Ethel Ike, district deputy and grand matron, under the authority and direction of Mrs. Alma Lee Hatt, grand matron of the Order of Eastern Star of Mississippi last Saturday. There were more than 100 guests from various local chapters adjacent to Poplarville. Other grand officers present were: Mrs. Josie Rankin, assistant grand matron, of Gulfport; Mrs. Lula Horne, grand conductress of Sandersville; Mrs. Myra Eaton, grand secretary, of Hattiesburg; Miss Sue Waller, past grand matron, of Wiggins; Dave Weston, past grand patron, of Logtown; Mrs. Lillie K. Leonhard, district grand matron, of Bay St. Louis and four grand chapter representatives. The school closed with a banquet given in honor of the guests by Poplarville Chapter, O. E. S.

Repent At Leisure.

Business started to slow down considerably a year ago. But not so in the life of Mrs. Alice Miller, Chicago, Ill.

At high noon on April 3, 1931, so she testified in Judge Sabath's divorce court, she met Jack Miller at a loop lunch counter. Both finished their coffee at the same time, and Jack remarked:

"There's the county building across the street. Let's get married." They did. Alice went back to her work, and Jack to his, if any. Came the end of the afternoon to find Alice already regretting her action. So without further communication with husband Jack, she betook herself to the parental home for dinner.

Jack called her on the phone, but she refused to answer. A few days later he called for her, bringing along a gun as an instrument of persuasion. But Alice was not moved. Nor has she since. Judge Sabath granted the divorce.

no right to delay those that are behind.

9. Don't take chances with faulty brakes or tires—it's a saving you'll regret.

10. Don't be reckless at any time—you endanger not only your own life, but the other fellow's as well.

As a final admonition to every driver, he might practice the Golden Rule of the Road, which could be summed up in:

Consider the rights of the other fellow as you would have him consider yours.

BAY SAINT LOUIS IN LIST OF PLACES TO GET POSTOFFICE BUILDINGS

Forty-Five Postal Buildings for Mississippi In "Relief Bill"—However, No Appropriations Made as Yet For Building.

Bearing the approval of house democrats the $2,100,000,000 Garner relief bill was completed at Washington this week almost coincidentally with the enunciation of a statement from administration quarters that a public works program would be a "shock to public confidence."

The Garner bill carries a $1,047,000,000 public works provision. It also would provide $100,000,000 to be administered by President Hoover for direct relief and would add $1,000,000,000 to the capital of the reconstruction corporation for loans to states, cities, counties, individuals and corporations that could furnish proper security.

The expression of administration opposition to a public works program came from Secretary Mills in a statement dealing specifically with the program advanced several nights ago by former Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York.

He said "public works mean public borrowing, an unbalanced budget and a shock to public confidence."

The Garner measure does not specifically provide for a bond issue but Speaker Garner explained to his colleagues in a session behind closed doors that the treasury already was authorized to issue bonds up to $28,000,000,000 and to issue treasury bills, certificates and notes up to $10,000,000,000 and that authority for a bond issue to cover the building projects was unnecessary.

With the public indebtedness around $17,000,000,000 Garner said the treasury could finance the public works program under existing authority.

However, the measure provides for a tax of one-fourth of a cent a gallon on gasoline to meet the interest and sinking fund requirements on the bonds issued by the treasury for the program.

The Garner bill would make the following allocations for new buildings:

Mississippi: Clarksdale, post office, $100,000; Natchez, post office $90,000; Oxford, post office and court house $70,000; in all $260,000.

The Garner bill also includes a $90,000,000 authorization for expenditure on projects already authorized but not yet to the contract stage. It makes no individual allocations, but suggests that as much money "as can be advantageously utilized" be expended on the following projects:

Mississippi: Cleveland post office, Columbia post office, Hattiesburg post office, Jackson post office. The measure would authorize $70,000 postoffices to cost a total of $101,080,000 as follows:

Mississippi: A. & M. College, Ar-mory, Bay Saint Louis, Belzoni, Boogerville, Crystal Springs, Hazlehurst, Indianola, Leland, Lexington, Louisville, Macon, New Albany, Newton, Pascagoula, Philadelphia, Picayune, Pontotoc, Starkville, and Waynesboro.

It also would authorize the following post offices to cost about $55,000.

Mississippi: Centerville, Charleston, Drew, Durant, Forest, Houston, Magnolia, Ocean Springs, Okolona, Pass Christian, Piney Woods, Poplarville, Port Gibson, Ripley, Rosedale, Shelby, Tylertown and Union.

Coast Changes Sales- Tax Schedule From Original Collection

Many grocery stores in Gulfport, Biloxi and other coast communities beginning Monday will make a change in their sales tax collection schedule, reducing from 20 to 15 cents the minimum purchase upon which no tax is to be charged. This was said to have been made necessary by the growing number of small purchases upon which no tax is paid. Under the new schedule, purchases from 1 to 14 cents will be tax free. From 15 to 59 cents a 1-cent tax will be charged, and from 60 cents to $1.09 the tax will be 2 cents.

Pickpocket's Mouth Picked.

Paul Preacher, Chicago underworld character with a penchant for pickpocketing, complained to the detective bureau recently that he had been robbed by his cell mates.

The police expressed some surprise that the leading pickpocket of the city should have his pockets picked. "Not my pockets," said Preacher, "my false teeth have been picked right out of my mouth by someone."

After a brief search, Keeper Pre-lan discovered that the teeth thief disappointed in the quality of his loot, had tossed both upper and lower plates into a refuse box.

They were returned to Preacher, who now sleeps with his mouth tightly closed.

CORPUS CHRISTI PROCESSION AT ST. AUGUSTINE SEMINARY

Last Sunday, May 29th, a solemn Corpus Christi procession was held on St. Augustine's Seminary grounds. A large number, including the clergy, Sisters, and laity attended, and marched in procession in honor of their Eucharistic King.

The procession started at 4:15, P. M., from the college chapel. Headed by the cross bearer it wended its way through the shady lanes and walks to the Major Seminary, and to other well selected spots where altars were erected and appropriately decorated. The procession included some 200 school children of St. Rose de Lima parish. The girls wore white dresses with veils and wreaths, and the boys in white blouses and dark trousers. Many of them carried banners. In the procession were represented the Holy Name Society, The Children of Mary, and the Blessed Virgin Sodality, with their respective banners. These were followed by a large number of laity, Sisters and Priests. The altar boys in regulation garb proper to their position acting as censer and torch bearer, and bell ringer, were just before the Blessed Sacrament.

The Blessed Sacrament was carried in the procession to each of the four altars, respectively by Rev. Theodore Koeller, S. V. D., the Rev. John Hoenderop, S. V. D., pastor of St. Rose de Lima's, the Rev. Cletus Hodapp, S. V. D., the Rev. Norbert L. Shuler, S. V. D. They were assisted by the Rev. James Downes, S. T. B., as deacon and the Rev. Stops were made at each of the four altars where Benediction, or the blessing of the people with the Blessed Sacrament was given on each of the four occasions. This appropriate devotion attested the faith and belief in the Real Presence of Jesus Christ in the Blessed Sacrament, and was a public profession of the people's faith.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Gex Enjoy Double Happiness When Two Graduate

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Gex, esteemed townspeople are the recipients of double honor and pleasure this week, a sense of satisfaction that seldom comes to a couple in double measure, and surely they are fully deserving of it. They are the parents of two splendid young women, Laurin and Norma Gex, natives and who have grown up in our midst to fine womanhood, noted for their scholastic attainments and general accomplishment.

Miss Laurin graduated this week from Gulf Park College, and on Saturday night of last week, had the leading speaking role in the pageant in open air that was apropos to the Washington-Bi-Centennial year. She graduated with honors and her work sheds lustre both to her alma mater and to herself as well.

While Mrs. Gex was attending graduation at Gulf Park, Mr. Gex was attending similar exercises at University of Mississippi, his daughter, Norma, receiving her degree, bachelors of arts, and in addition captured a number of unusual honors one of which was a cash prize for the best essay on sociology, medals, etc., and president of the class, etc.

It was a singular situation one present at one place and the other at another, each witnessing high honors that were paid to each of their respective daughters.

Bay St. Louis is justly proud of Laurin and Norma Gex and in congratulating them it is well not to forget the fond parents who no doubt made sacrifices, separating themselves from their children and other denials, in order their offsprings might prosper. It has been said we are in measure too selfish with our children. But Mr. and Mrs. Gex forewent this. Their reward, however, is evident. There is every manifestation for happiness. Both young ladies originally graduated from Bay High School.
